Four appointed assistant public defenders in Duval County

05/09/2011
from staff

Fourth Judicial Circuit Public Defender Matt Shirk appointed four new assistant public defenders to the Duval County Office.

- Tiffany Poore returns to the Public Defender's Office as assistant public defender in the Felony Unit where she recently was re-assigned to the Major Crimes Unit. She has three years of experience as an assistant public defender in Jacksonville and comes back to public service after spending a year and a half in private practice. She is a 2006 graduate of Florida Coastal School of Law and a 2002 graduate of Florida State University, where she earned a degree in history.

- Lisa Gilbert becomes an assistant public defender in the County Court Unit in May. The December 2010 graduate of Florida Coastal worked at the Public Defender's Office as a volunteer and later as a Certified Legal Intern. She graduated from LeMoyne College in Syracuse in 2007 with a degree in criminology.

- Shannon Brooke Schott has been appointed an assistant public defender in the Juvenile Unit after spending two months volunteering for the office. Originally from Jacksonville, she worked for a local law firm after graduating from the Stetson University College of Law in 2010. She did her undergraduate work in political science
