Bedell Named Director of Clay County P.D. Office

Shirk promotes Division Chief to become second female legal Unit Director in Administration

Green Cove Springs, FL: A diverse legal background, a unique courtroom talent and a keen management sense has propelled Assistant Public Defender Kate Bedell to become the new Director of Clay County for the Office of Fourth Circuit Public Defender Matt Shirk. Ms. Bedell will oversee a staff of seven attorneys, one investigator and three support team members.

“Kate has demonstrated a tremendous administrative ability serving in Duval County as a Felony Unit Division Chief,” said Shirk. “Our Clay County office continues to see a large caseload and the Directorship is a key position in this Circuit. I have full faith in Kate’s abilities as an attorney and as a manager as she leads our office in Green Cove Springs.”

Kate Bedell becomes the second female to be named a legal Director in the Shirk Administration. She started with the Fourth Circuit Public Defender’s office in September of this year where she was named Division Chief in the Circuit Court Unit. For nearly seven years prior, she worked as an Assistant State Attorney in Duval and Clay Counties, most recently serving as a high level prosecutor in the Special Operations Unit.

“It’s an honor to accept this promotion and I am excited to work with the terrific staff in the Clay County Office of the Public Defender,” said Bedell. “There are certainly going to be challenges as growth in the county translates to a larger case count for the office. However, we have a strong, capable team in place, and I’m certain we will succeed in providing our clients with the quality representation they deserve and the Constitution requires. This is a wonderful opportunity for me both personally and professionally.”

A third-generation resident of Duval County, Kate’s family is involved in the local arts community. Just recently, she joined the Board of Directors for The Art Center Cooperative Inc., a local not-for-profit organization dedicated to excellence and recognition of area artists and quality of life for the City of Jacksonville.
