

Jacksonville Journal: Duval, Clay to install jail video-conferencing

Posted: June 17, 2010 - 3:37am

Subscription Offer

Duval and Clay counties will be installing new video-conferencing units in their jails that will reduce costs and make communication between public defenders and inmates more efficient.

Duval County is replacing and expanding its existing system in favor of a Public Defender Jail Video System. Clay County, which has not had video conferencing as a communications option between public defenders and their clients, will be installing 11 of the new units in its jail.
